

SAY LAW IS BROKEN

Child Labor Workers Show Many Violations.

PHOTOGRAPHS PRESENT FACTS

Unique Exhibition of Findings of National Committee in Progress Here in Furtherance of Bill for Creation of Bureau in Department of Commerce and Labor.

Portraying with startling vividness the wide prevalence throughout the United States of violations of child-labor laws, the exhibit opened at 1338 G street yesterday by the National Child Labor Committee, has a thrilling story for Washingtonians.

Photographs taken in coal mines, breakers, glass factories, cotton mills, quarries, canneries, silk mills, cigarette factories, and of the street are arranged about the walls of the building, with statistical tables to show the effect of the work in the spreading of tuberculosis and other diseases.

Upon the first floor are grouped pictures telling the story of the newsboy and street vendor. Tabulated results tell the visitor that the percentage of cases where the newsboy is forced to work is comparatively small. The ambition to be self-supporting at a young age is responsible, says the child-labor committee, for most boys going upon the street.

Photos Show Violations.

Violations of the child-labor law in the Florida tobacco factories is briefly told in a series of photographs placed along the staircase wall. Identification of the children appearing in the pictures, with statements as to their ages, effectually proves the law violation and affords a striking argument for the child-labor committee.

The second floor is given over to an exhibition of pictures showing the working conditions of the coal mine and breaker employees, and there is a display of "sweat shop" photographs on the third floor. Leaflets describing the work of the committee are distributed from the office on the first floor, together with some reproductions of photographs.

The exhibit in Washington at this time is in furtherance of the strenuous attempt being made this winter to push the children's bureau bill now before Congress.

The bill was introduced in the House by Representative Gardner, of Michigan, and provides for the establishment in the Department of Commerce and Labor of a children's bureau. The bill was sent to the Committee on Expenditure in the Department of Commerce and Labor, and by them returned to the Committee on the Whole with a hearty indorsement.

Want Bureau Created.

The plan outlined in the bill will call for the establishment of the bureau, with the chief receiving a salary of $4,000 per year, with fifteen other employees to carry out the statistical and investigating work necessary. No opposition has appeared to the bill, and many of those prominent in children's work in this country and Europe have urged its passage before the committee.

The exhibit is in charge of Miss Elizabeth Dinwiddie, of New York, who has spent some time in child-labor study and is an enthusiast in the furtherance of the work of the committee.

The display will remain in Washington until Friday, when it will be placed on exhibition at the University of Virginia. The local representative of the committee is Dr. A. J. McKelvey, who has offices in the Bond Building.

BOYS OF COMPANY B AT DANCE.

Officers of School Cadet Corps Hold Reception.

J. McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Deahl, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson, and Dr. and Mrs. Wilbur Phelps.

Nearly 300 students of the Central High School attended the dance. The officers of Company B are: Laurence M. Leonard, captain; M. Magruder McDonald, first lieutenant, and Charles J. Deahl, Jr., second lieutenant.

SEAMEN HAVE FEAST.

"Turkey and Trimmings" Enjoyed by Tars at the Navy Yard.

Christmas dinner, including everything from roast turkey to plum pudding, with brandy sauce and cigars, was served by the commissary department of the navy yard yesterday to about 150 seamen.

It was a success from beginning to end, and each course brought additional surprises to Uncle Sam's tars, as the dinner was said to be the best the commissary department has ever served to the boys. The seamen's quarters were handsomely decorated for the occasion with flags and greens.

The officers in charge of the affair were Lieut. Commander Althouse, Assistant Paymaster J. H. Knapp, Chief Gunner W. G. Moore, and Gunner J. A. Martin, while credit for the preparation of the feast is due to W. Crowell, commissary steward; P. G. Joyner, J. P. Haxfield, L. Wechsler, A. N. Padgett, J. R. Porter, L. T. Lilly, J. J. Crane, and J. M. O'Neill.

Funeral of John W. Gardiner.

Funeral services for John W. Gardiner will be held this morning at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. Mr. Gardiner, who was a descendant of the Calverts, of Maryland, died at Georgetown University Hospital Friday, after a lingering illness. He was eighty years old, and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Frederick R. Whipple, of this city, and Mrs. Richard E. Beale, of Prince George County.

KNIGHTS TOAST COMMANDER

Templars of City Unite in Christmas Ceremony.

Health of President Taft and Rulers of Body Are Drunk at Many Asylums.

Precisely at noon yesterday 400 Knights Templars, members of Columbia Commandery, No. 2, and De Molay, No. 4, raised their glasses in the grand master of the New Masonic Temple and drank a toast to William Bromwell Melish, most eminent grand master of templars of the United States. Right Eminent Sir William T. Gallier responded to the sentiment.

It is the custom on Christmas Day for all Knights Templars in the United States to gather in their respective asylums and participate in a toast to the grand master of templars. Heretofore in this jurisdiction the constituent commanderies have celebrated the event separately. This year Columbia and De Molay united in the celebration. The observance opened at 11:30 o'clock, with Eminent Sir Charles A. Stewart, of Columbia, and Eminent Sir William Hart Dexter, of De Molay, presiding.

Sir James H. McIntosh read the Scripture lesson and prayed, and the salutation was given by Rev. W. W. Barnes, of the Douglass Memorial Church. The toast to the President of the United States was responded to by Sir William E. Andrews. Very Eminent Alexander Grant answered for the right eminent grand commander, George C. Ober. The toast to the most excellent grand high priest of the Grand Chapter was responded to by Eminent Sir Adolphus Guide, and one to the most worshipful grand master by Eminent Sir Charles E. Baldwin.

A number of letters and telegrams were read from commanderies in this and other jurisdictions, sending greetings and felicitations. A toast to the deceased fraters was drunk in silence. The exercises were interspersed with music furnished by a quartet of Sir Knights R. R. Rodrick, Fred Sillers, C. E. Myers, and O. A. Phelps, and O. A. Danzabaker, organist. Rev. Sir Barnes pronounced the benediction.

Washington Commandery opened the day in the New Masonic Temple; Orient, No. 5, in Naval Lodge Hall, and Potomac, No. 3, in Masonic Temple, Georgetown.

Essay Prizes Delayed.

The prizes in the "Greater Washington essay contest," conducted among the city's school children by Sals & Company, could not be awarded last Saturday, as previously announced, owing to a delay in engraving. The gold watches offered in the contest will, however, arrive some time this week, when the distribution will be made.

DENTISTS CONVENE TO-DAY

Several Hundred Delegates Here for Convention.

Three Days to Be Given to Deliberations of Institute of Dental Pedagogues.

With several hundred dentists from all parts of the country in attendance, the eighteenth annual session of the Institute of Dental Pedagogues opens this morning at the New Willard Hotel. Practically all of the dental departments of the larger universities are represented by delegations from their faculties.

Three days will be devoted to the deliberations of the institute, with morning and afternoon meetings. Among the local dental authorities who will address the convention are Dr. Herdiker, of the National Museum, and Dr. Lamb, of the Army Medical Museum. The delegates will be given a smoker and reception to-night at the New Willard by the District Dental Society.

Dr. William Tindall, secretary to the Commissioners, will welcome the dentists to Washington at the opening session this morning, after which Dr. J. Q. Bryan, of the Indiana Dental College, president of the association, will deliver an address. Other speakers will be Drs. J. Howard Crawford, A. W. Webster, Truman W.

Brophy, S. H. Guilford, and Henry W. Morgan.

The afternoon session of the convention will have addresses by Drs. E. P. Brady, Leuman M. Waugh, E. F. Loeffler, F. C. Davidson, D. M. Cattel, Holly Smith, J. D. Hird, and L. M. Cowardin. The feature of the evening meeting will be an address by Dr. M. M. Dollinger, of Howard University. Other speakers on the programme are Drs. J. A. Dale and F. W. Stiff.

The convention will close Thursday morning when the annual election of officers will take place. Members of the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce will reach Washington to-morrow to urge the dentists to select the Lake City as the next meeting place for 1911.

Another 'Frisco Boomer Here.

Special Commissioner John P. Knapp, of the Panama-Pacific Exposition Company, has arrived here, to join the San Francisco delegation in pushing their fight for the Panama show in 1915. Mr. Knapp, who is a former speaker of the Arizona legislature, has been connected with eight expositions in this country, and is confident that the 1915 show will go to the Coast.

George W. Harrington Buried.

Rev. Robert Talbot, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, officiated at the funeral yesterday of George W. Harrington, who died Friday at his residence, 112 Twenty-fifth street northwest, of paralysis. Interment was in Glenwood Cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Richards.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Miss Louise Content Richards, who died at her home, 1217 Tenth street northwest, Thursday of apoplexy. Interment was in Oak Hill Cemetery.

POOR ENJOY DINNERS

Missions Extend Christmas Cheer to Hundreds.

DESTITUTE ARE SHELTERED

Charitable Institutions of City Feed Long Lines of Homeless Ones. Prayer Services Held at Missions in Which Unfortunate Ones Unite. Women's Home Crowded.

Hundreds of destitute men, women, and children were given their fill of Christmas dinner yesterday at the Central Union Mission, the Gospel Mission, the Christian Home for Girls, Women, and Children, and other charitable institutions.

Large waiters of ham, beans, and other vegetables were handed to over 300 hungry applicants at the Gospel Mission, from noon until 2 o'clock, under the direction of Supt. H. W. Kline.

Brief prayer services were held after the dinner, when addresses were made by George W. Wheeler and Mrs. Harriet E. Monroe. W. William Evans sang and Miss Grace Beaman played hymns on the organ. In the evening the Rev. Fred Dickey preached to a large attendance of men and women.

At Central Union Mission.

At the Central Union Mission two long tables were laid in the main hall. Turkey, cranberries, pie, and other good things were on the menu.

Rev. Francis J. Lukens, superintendent of the home, was in charge of the dinner and saw that even those in the "bull pen," where the very destitute of the streets stay, were given their share of the Christmas cheer.

About 300 men, women, and children were fed.

Brief song services were held prior to the dinner, when the tickets were distributed. In addition to the food, large quantities of clothing and other wearing apparel were given away to the very needy cases.

The Christian Home for Girls, Women, and Children opened its doors yesterday to a large number of poor who sought shelter and food for the day. Supt. G. R. Lauterbach extends thanks to the generous public of Washington for their liberal support during Christmas week, which enabled the home to take care of hundreds of friendless women and girls.

RITES FOR MRS. HAMILTON.

Daughter of Late Senator to Be Buried in Delaware.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock for Mrs. Mary Naudain Hamilton, daughter of the late Senator Naudain, of Delaware, from the residence of her granddaughter, Mrs. Arthur H. Giles, 1533 Mintwood place northwest. The body will be taken to Odessa, Del., for burial.

Mrs. Hamilton was ninety-three years old and was a descendant of one of the first French families that came to this country during the persecution of the Huguenots in France. Besides her granddaughter, Mrs. Hamilton is survived by a son, W. N. Hamilton, a member of a wholesale leather firm in Baltimore.

WILL REST IN ARLINGTON.

Body of Mrs. Lincoln to Be Brought Here To-day.

Mrs. Sumner H. Lincoln, wife of Brig. Gen. Sumner H. Lincoln, U. S. A., retired, will be buried in Arlington Cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning. Mrs. Lincoln died last Friday of pneumonia at Gen. Lincoln's home in Fern Bank, Ohio. Gen. Lincoln will arrive here with the body early to-day.

Mrs. Lincoln became ill about two weeks ago. While her condition was believed to be serious it was thought the crisis had been safely passed. Her condition suddenly became worse Friday, and she died a few hours later.

Mrs. Lincoln was Miss Ruth Gooden, of Cincinnati, Ohio. She and Gen. Lincoln made their home in Washington several years ago, when he was stationed here. Since his retirement about eight years ago, they have lived in Fern Bank. Gen. Lincoln is a brother of the late Dr. N. S. Lincoln, of this city.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY QUIETLY.

Admiral Dewey Congratulated on Seventy-third Anniversary.

Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N., was seventy-three years old yesterday. He received many congratulations from his friends, not only in the navy but also in official life. Among those who called to pay their respects was Rear Admiral B. P. Lamberton, retired.

Admiral Lamberton commanded the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's flagship, after Capt. Gridley had been detached because of ill-health.

In spite of his years, Admiral Dewey is in excellent health, and is on active duty as president of the general board of the navy. He usually walks from his home to his office in the Mills Building, even in bad weather. He retains an interest in all naval matters, and presides over the meetings of the general board. He is at his desk in the Mills Building practically every morning. In the afternoon he usually goes driving for several hours.
